

thumbs up      see explanation      thumbs down

Note:

The idea is very similar to the previous design (#2), but this one is for a mobile / small-screened interface.

② The same type of screen as ①, but the presented image will depend on the previously selected / chosen images.

Again, each image has its own categories which will be used to determine the next images.

③ Once the system is confident about the user's style, the user will be presented with this screen

